

CONTINUE TO AWAIT WILSON'S REPLY TO LETTER ON TREATY

Both Sides Mark Time Anticipating Final Answer.

DECISION IN DOUBT

Administration Leaders In Dark On Outcome of Matter.

Washington, March 6.—The fate of the peace treaty continued to rest with President Wilson today.

His response to Senator Hitchcock's letter requesting he grant an audience to Senator Simmons, of North Carolina as the emissary of a coalition of Republican "mild reservationists" and administration senators seeking ratification, was anxiously awaited on all sides in the treaty fight.

Hitchcock and his dwindling forces were as much in the dark as to the president's purpose as were those Republican senators who predicted his attitude toward Article X of the league of nations covenant would remain unchanged.

Washington, March 6.—With another failure to ratify the peace treaty impending, Democratic senators decided yesterday to seek personal consultation with President Wilson before the decisive vote is taken. They wished to know definitely how far he would go in endorsing a compromise, and also a clear understanding of his views on the treaty as a campaign issue should another senate deadlock force it into politics.

Some Democrats were understood also to wish to know what measures the president would expect Congress to take to relieve the country from a war status while a decision at the polls on the treaty was awaited.

Conference Asked For.

The move for such a conference, initiated long ago among some elements of the party in the senate, took definite form when Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, the administration leader, sent a letter to the White House asking that the president talk over the senate situation with Senator Simmons of North Carolina in charge for the Democratic side of a new movement to negotiate a treaty compromise.

In some quarters it was intimated that senators from both political parties eventually might meet with the president in an effort to reach a compromise.

Gets Republicans' Ultimatum.

In conjunction with Senator Watson of Indiana, acting for the Republican side, Senator Simmons has sounded out the sentiment of all the senate elements and when he goes to the White House he will be in possession of a clear understanding of what the Republicans would accept.

The new negotiations have centered about article 10, but such progress has been made that the outcome is regarded by many senators as depending now on the verdict of the president. Democratic senators do not want to vote for a ratification which the president later would reject, nor do they want to turn down any reasonable offer of compromise unless they are certain it is unsatisfactory to him.

Declines Any Guarantees.

As the article 10 compromise proposal now shapes up in the Watson-Simmons negotiations, it is understood to contemplate a reservation declaring that the U. S. declines to guarantee the territorial integrity of other league members by means of its army or navy, by a boycott or any other method of commercial force, or by diplomatic pressure, except when Congress gives specific and affirmative authority for such a course.

In these negotiations both Senator Hitchcock and Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, the Republican leader, have remained well in the background, but they are understood to have been in close touch with each development.

Another Reservation Adopted.

The only action taken on the floor today was the re-adoption, without change, of another of the Republican reservations, providing that the reparations commission shall not interfere with trade between the U. S. and Germany, except by the consent of this government.

The vote was 41 to 22, six Democrats joining with the majority.

A Democratic substitute by Senator Hitchcock was rejected by the votes of the Republicans and reservation Democrats.

In many quarters the decision of the Democrats to go to the White House was regarded as a final effort to prevent another deadlock. Both Democrats and Republicans said privately that the outcome undoubtedly could be affected directly by the president's counsel.

Leaders do not expect article 10 to come to a vote for nearly a week.

Former German liner sinks at Brooklyn pier

The mysterious sinking of the steamship Moccasin, a former German liner, at her pier in Brooklyn is being investigated by the Federal authorities. The Moccasin went to the bottom while her crew was unloading her cargo of flaxseed. She is the property of the United States Shipping Board, and was in the South American trade. The vessel was formerly the Prince Joachim and is one of the vessels listed to be sold by the Shipping Board.

HOLLAND ISSUES SHARP REFUSAL OF ALLIED NOTE

DEMANDS OF BRITISH LABOR AGAIN BEFORE ACCOUNT OF PRICES

Cost of Living Given As Reason For Recent Unrest.

London, March 6.—The demands of British labor which increased wages, nationalization of coal mines and industrial reforms in general will again be brought sharply before the public when the trade union congress convenes next Thursday.

"The mad race of prices and wages has entered upon another lap at a speed which promises to be more furious than ever," says the Daily Express. "The official announcement that food prices are now 135 per cent above the pre-war level and that general living costs, including food, clothing, fuel and light, show an increase of 130 per cent is to be followed by perhaps the greatest series of wage demands ever known in this country."

According to the Daily Express the claims already formulated by labor and those about to be put forward will add about $15,500,000 weekly to industry's wage payments. If these wage demands are met, the Daily Express warns the public must expect prices to increase correspondingly.

"WET" GOVERNOR WILL BE OPPOSED ONLY BY MARSHALL IN ELECTION

New Jersey's Chief Executive Has Good Following.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 6.—Unless supporters of the candidacy of William G. McAdoo find a loop hole by which his name may be placed on the Indiana presidential preference primary ballot, it appeared today that Governor Edward I. Edwards, of New Jersey, will have only the opposition of Vice President Thomas Riley Marshall in the Democratic contest in this state.

A political "coup" by which a petition to have Edwards name placed on the primary ballot was filed at the last moment last night, caused Marshall supporters to follow suit.

Backers of the McAdoo candidacy have agreed with Marshall's friends not to file and they presented no petition.

Unexpected announcement that yesterday was the last day for filing petitions for higher offices left the situation today somewhat befuddled. It had been supposed that candidates could file today.

Chicago, March 6.—Newspapers have the right to publish all court testimony, whether it be true or untrue, according to a ruling handed down in a libel suit against a Chicago newspaper by Circuit Judge Oscar M. Tarrison. The ruling was given in instructions to the jury heard in the case.

GOVERNOR EDWARDS' CANDIDACY DENOUNCED BY "DRY" DEMOCRATS IN CHICAGO MEETING

Chicago, March 6.—The presidential candidacy of Governor Edward I. Edwards, of New Jersey, was denounced at a meeting of "dry Democrats" here. They declared that "no wet candidate" would be nominated by the Democratic party. Among the speakers was Major A. V. Dalrymple, federal prohibition chief here, who told how he walked into Iron County, Michigan, recently and walked right out again.

TWENTY BILLIONS REQUIRED TO PAY SOLDIERS LATER

Government Must Take Care of Veterans In Old Age.

EX-SOLDIERS OBJECT

Difference of Opinion Rife Over Suggested Grants.

Washington, March 6.—Efforts of the house ways and means committee to formulate a soldier relief program were complicated again today by conflicting views of witnesses and objection of the rivalries among various former soldier organizations into the hearing.

The committee devoted much time to listening to a controversy between ex-service men, S. Lovenbein, chairman of the Rank and File Association, and Marvin Gates Sperry, national president of the Private Soldiers' and Sailors' Legion. Lovenbein, answering a question of Representative Kitchin, Democrat, North Carolina, concerning "phony rumors" that Lovenbein was a Socialist and a Communist, retorted that Sperry "is controlled by Henry B. Martin."

Merely Advised Him.

Martin, who was present, told the committee he had no interest in the organization Sperry represented, but "advised him on certain economic legislative measures."

Lovenbein's suggestion was that every man who had served be paid $1 a day, with a minimum of $180, and that of Sperry was that a flat bonus of $500 be granted.

Ninety per cent of the former service men favor some plan of financial relief, Richard Seelye Jones of Washington, editor of a service newspaper, told the committee.

60 Per Cent Unorganized.

He insisted that more than 60 per cent of those in the military and naval services were unorganized. It was difficult, he said, to test "the pulse of the discharged veterans through spokesmen of organizations." Posts of the American Legion and other organizations in the middle West, he said, favor the proposed land bills, adding that former soldiers would be the last citizens to precipitate a financial panic if that might be the result of granting a bonus.

Want an Even Break.

"The feeling among ex-soldiers," Jones added, "is that they should be given at least an even break with those who worked in shipyards or munition plants."

Sperry's advocacy of the granting of a flat bonus of $500 to every man who had served was accompanied by sharp criticism of the suggestion of Lovenbein, which he referred to as "a skimping dollar a day."

JOHN A. FIFER DIES FOLLOWING WEEK'S ILLNESS FRIDAY

John Ankeny Fifer, for years one of Xenia's successful liverymen and well-known all over Greene county died at his home on East Second street at 3:40 o'clock Friday afternoon. Death was due to Bright's Disease and diabetes, from which he had been a sufferer for ten years. He had been seriously ill for a week since which time he had been confined to his bed.

Mr. Fifer was born in this city, May 8, 1862, and would have been 58 years of age his next birthday. He was the son of the late David and Mary Ann Jones Fifer, his father founding the livery business in the same location on East Second street that has since his death been conducted by his son.

Twenty years ago last September the marriage of Mr. Fifer and Miss Elizabeth Taylor was celebrated. There were no children, but a niece the late Mrs. Adine Taylor Owens was raised by Mr. and Mrs. Fifer. The Fifer livery business has been operated in Xenia 65 years having been established by Mr. Fifer's father and assumed by the son about sixteen years ago.

Mr. Fifer was a member of the Reformed church in this city and was also a member of the Knights of Pythias and was formerly a Redman. He is survived by his wife, a brother David, of this city and a sister, Mrs. Amanda Dean of near Emsworth Station, Pa.

Funeral services will be held at the late home, Monday afternoon at two o'clock. Friends may call Sunday afternoon and evening.

STATE WILL OPEN REBUTTAL IN CASE

Montesano, March 6.—The state will open its rebuttal today in the trial of the ten alleged I. W. W. charged with the Centralia armistice day murders. Attorneys for the prosecution announce that they will call 95 witnesses to stand for the rebuttal.

The state's rebuttal will possibly extend over till Monday or Tuesday, when the defense will conduct its rebuttal proceedings. When the defense has completed this the case will then go to the jury.

The defense, which closed its case Friday, took a little more than two weeks in which to examine its witnesses.

AIRCRAFT PROGRAM HOLDS HOUSE WITH HEATED DISCUSSION

War Time Production Subject of Argument of Members.

Washington, March 6.—For several hours today the house engaged in heated discussion of the war time aircraft production after which the matter was laid aside probably not to be again taken up at the present session.

The discussion was a political battle. The Republicans assailed the Democratic administration for alleged waste in expenditures in aircraft. The Democrats denied the waste charges and declared the charges were the outcome of politics.

In the absence of any specific recommendations for action either by congress or by any of the departments of the government, the house dropped the question with the close of the debate.

TREATY RESPONSIBLE

Say Ratification of League of Nations Would Have Helped.

Washington, March 6.—Appearing today before the house naval affairs committee, Secretary of the Navy Daniels declared that our navy "is weak in the types of ships which the world war proved were essential in fleet efficiency" and he urged the adoption of the building program for next year calling for 30 ships.

"In the unsettled condition of the world today," he said "our navy must be prepared for any emergency."

"We have only two courses to pursue. We must have a league of nations by which every nation will help preserve the peace of the world without competitive navy building or we must have incomparably the biggest navy in the world. There is no middle ground."

Unless there is a league of nations soon, or if the United States finally decides to stay outside the league, Secretary Daniels said he would be constrained to recommend a building program calling for the construction of 69 ships.

Uncertainties.

"I had hoped," said the secretary, "to appear today with a final recommendation as to the building program for the navy, but as the peace treaty has not been acted upon there are uncertainties in the situation."

"If the covenant had been ratified our duty would have been plain. With the league in operation it would not have been necessary to impose upon the taxpayers, in view of present burdens, the money necessary for building more capital ships."

"The building program for the next fiscal year, as presented to you, is: Battleships, 2; battle cruisers, 1; scout cruisers, 10; flotilla leaders, 5; fleet submarines, 6; airplane carriers, 2; aircraft tenders, 2; destroyer tenders, 1; submarine tender, 1."

"I am not recommending additional dreadnoughts, battle cruisers and scout cruisers, through these ships are the backbone of naval efficiency."

"Had the peace treaty been settled with the probability of armaments being curtailed and regulated as originally suggested by your committee in 1916, I would have submitted a program today which would have only rounded out the navy along the lines found necessary by our experience in the late world war."

"Two battleships authorized prior to 1916 are now nearly completed and we are building under the three year program of 1916 ten battleships more powerful than any foreign battleships afloat and six battle cruisers superior to any foreign vessels of their class. Ten scout cruisers also are under construction."

FILES SUIT AGAINST HINES IN "ILLEGAL" COAL DISTRIBUTION

Want Commission To Settle All Disputes.

Washington, March 6.—Restraint of Director General Hines "in continuing to interfere in an illegal way, with the orderly distribution of coal, was asked in a suit filed in the supreme court of the District of Columbia today by Noah S. Swayne, of Philadelphia, and president of the American Wholesale Coal Association. Other companies joining in this suit are the Pine Ridge Coal company of Michigan, and Coale and Company, merchants at Baltimore.

The allegation is made in the suit, that the president's control over coal, granted by the Lever law, has been delegated and redelegated so many times "that the coal industry is no longer regulated by the government in the public interest."

The suit asks the court to establish a commission to settle claims between the owners of coal and the central coal committee of the railroad administration. "The purpose of the suit," it was stated, "is to compel the director general and his agents to allow those who buy coal to actually get the coal they have bought and paid for. As the matter stands now, it is impossible for any coal man to make a sale to a retailer, a public utility or a factory and to guarantee that this coal will be delivered."

Other companies joining in this suit are the Pine Ridge Coal company of Michigan, and Coale and Company, merchants at Baltimore.

The allegation is made in the suit, that the president's control over coal, granted by the Lever law, has been delegated and redelegated so many times, that the coal industry is no longer regulated by the government in the public interests.

The suit asks the court to establish a commission to settle claims between the owners of coal and the central coal committee of the railroad administration. "The purpose of the suit," it was stated, "is to compel the director general and his agents to allow those who buy coal to actually get the coal brought to his attention. But there's a way to find him. It's the classified way. And it succeeds because in the course of things, this logical buyer of your property MAKES KNOWN TO YOU."

YOU'D PHONE HIM or call on him today if you knew his name or where he lived. We refer to the man who could and would buy your property if it were brought to his attention. But there's a way to find him. It's the classified way. And it succeeds because in the course of things, this logical buyer of your property MAKES KNOWN TO YOU.

PRETTY WEDDING OCCURS NEAR CLIFTON.

In the presence of a company of forty guests, the nuptials of Miss Reva Marguerite Moore, to Howard Oliver Beatty, were celebrated at six thirty o'clock, Thursday evening at the home of the bride's uncle, Mr. David B. Turner on the Clifton and Cedarville road. The Rev. E. G. McKibben, pastor of the Clifton United Presbyterian church, officiated.

Greene and white were the colors, and the service was read in the alcove formed by the bay windows in the living room, before a background of potted plants.

The two little children of the bridegroom, Wayne and Helen, were charming ring bearer and flower girl. The little boy was dressed in a blue sailor suit and carried the ring in the heart of a lily. The little girl wore a white frock and carried a basket of flowers.

The bride's gown was fashioned of pussy willow taffeta, with beaded trimming and she carried a bouquet of white roses and sweet peas. Miss Ruth Platter of Yellow Springs was at the piano and played the wedding march from Lohengrin as the bridal party entered. She played softly while the vows were being taken.

Dinner followed and covers were laid for eight at the bride's table. The bride's bouquet centered the table and ferns were placed on the cloth. There were covers for the bridal pair, Misses Eleanor Alexander, Bertha Platter, Ruth Platter and Lucile Beatty; Messrs. Earl Short and Leroy Short.

Mr. and Mrs. Beatty expect to go to housekeeping immediately on the bridegroom's farm three miles north of Xenia. Mrs. Beatty is a daughter of Charles Moore of this city. She has made her home with her uncle, Mr. Turner since babyhood.

GIVE LUNCHEON HONORING VISITORS.

One of the winter's handsome affairs was the luncheon followed by cards, given by Miss Isadora King and Miss Emma King at the Kingdom Thursday, for the pleasure of their house guest, Mrs. Warren K. Moorehead of Andover, Mass., and Mrs. Vanderventer of Columbus. Sweet peas and carnations were the flowers chosen, and they were used in the dining room, where the luncheon tables were laid, and in the rooms where the card tables were placed. Five hundred was played after luncheon.

SEW CARPET RAGS AND KNOT COMFORT.

A bushel basket filled with carpet rags and one comforter knotted, was the work performed by the members of the Social Circle, who were entertained by Mrs. J. P. Shoemaker at her home at Goes Station, Friday. The guests spent an entire day at the Shoemaker home, and at noon enjoyed a delicious luncheon served café.

SUPREME COURT CHIEF TO DELIVER ADDRESS UPON THE PRESENTATION OF AWARDS TO SOLDIERS' NEXT OF KIN

Judge Hugh L. Nichols, chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Ohio, has accepted an invitation to deliver the principal address at the memorial services in honor of soldier dead, to be held by Joseph P. Foody Post of the American Legion, Sunday week, upon the occasion of the distribution to the next of kin, of the engraved certificates which are the gift of the French government.

Post Commander Charles L. Darlington, who is in charge of the arrangements for the memorial meeting, announced Saturday that it will be held at the opera house in this city, Sunday afternoon, March 14, at 2:30, or if arrangements cannot be completed by that time, the following Sunday at the same hour.

Commander Darlington has received certificates to be presented to the next of kin, but he fears that the list may not be complete, and requested that any next of kin entitled to receive a certificate whose name does not appear in the list published today, notify him at once in order that he can arrange to receive a certificate before the memorial service is held.

Next of kin of any soldier, sailor or marine, who died while in service, whether in camp or overseas, or in action, is entitled to receive one of the certificates.

The list of next of kin received by Mr. Darlington follows:

Mrs. Nora Foody, Xenia; Mrs. Caroline Roan, Xenia; Charles Harness, Xenia; Mrs. George Charlton, Xenia; John Shears, Xenia; N. Stallings, Xenia; Charles Hoyle, Springfield; Susie Broadie, Cedarville; Thomas Dignam, Osborn; John Gearin, Osborn; Charles Wise, Osborn; Minnie Carroll, Xenia; Mrs. Rosa

THIRTY-FIVE FRIENDS GATHER AT PARTY

About thirty-five friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Green and Mrs. Green's cousin, Mr. Edward Jackson pleasantly surprised them last evening. The party gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Green and went in a body, enjoying piano music with drums, and games. The table was spread for the full length of the dining room, and was daintily decorated, two large birthday cakes with their many candles delightfully surprising Mrs. Green and her cousin.

MRS. HARSHMAN ENTERTAINS AT CARD-LUNCHEON.

One of the prettiest affairs of the season was the luncheon given by Mrs. J. F. Harshman at her home on North King street, Friday afternoon. A red and white color scheme was used in the decorations, harmonizing with the house decorations. The Rhea Ree roses were used in the bud vases on the card tables. There were covers for twenty women at the four course luncheon, served, after which 500 was enjoyed. Mrs. Geo. R. Schuster winning the prize.

Mrs. Frank Wickersham, of Denver, Colo., who is the guest of Mrs. J. A. Chew, was the only out of town guest at the affair.

DANCING PARTY IS AN ATTRACTIVE AFFAIR.

Jonquils, daffodils, tulips and other spring blossoms decked the dancing hall, card room and receiving room at the Elks' Club Friday night, for the dancing party given by Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers W. Murphy. Honor guests for the evening were the hostess' young sister, Miss Margaret Kelly, and two of her school mates from Miss Kendrick's School at Cincinnati, Miss Louise Murphy, of Hamilton, and Miss Louise Brown of Germantown, who are spending the week-end at Miss Kelly's home. In the receiving line also were the Messrs. Clytus Marvin, J. E. Barlow and Charles Murphy of Urbana, and Samuel Robinson of London.

Sixty guests were received. Those who did not care to dance enjoyed cards. For the dancing a Dayton orchestra played, one of the musicians being a boy violinist who quite captivated the guests. A buffet supper course was served.

GIVEN SURPRISE ON JOINT BIRTHDAYS.

Their birthdays falling on the same day, Mrs. Herman Green and her cousin, Mr. Edward Jackson, were the honor guests at a surprise birthday party at the home of Mrs. Green Friday evening. Relatives arranged the affair, and 35 people were present. Two birthday cakes, each topped with pink candles decorated the tables, and were lighted while the collation was being served. Music and games amused the company during the evening.

Memorial services were held by Wilbur H. Thomas Post, Jamestown last week, and certificates presented to next of kin of six men.

The certificates are elaborate. They show a group figure from the cenotaph in the Avenue des Champs Elysees, Paris. In the scroll above are the dates "1914-1919." Above the group is a quotation which freely translated reads "The people should come to pray at the graves of those who died for their country." The inscription reads, "To the memory of _____ of the United States of America, who died for liberty during the Great War, the homage of France." and the engraved signature of the president of French republic, Raymond Poincare.

The American Legion was designated by the French government and the War Department of the United States, as the agent for distributing the certificates.

INHALES TALCUM POWDER; THREATENED WITH PNEUMONIA

Playing with a box of talcum powder, Richard, the seven months' old son of Mr. and Mrs. John McCalmont of Trebleins, inhaled a quantity of the powder into his lungs causing an irritation that threatened pneumonia.

The baby is at the Espy hospital, where encouragement over its condition was felt by Dr. Paul Espy, Saturday. Parents of the child said that the top of the talcum powder box was broken so that it was practically impossible to get the powder out of it, yet the baby in playing with the box was able to remove the top and get a quantity of the powder into its mouth, inhaling it into the lungs. The baby was taken to the hospital immediately.

Local Doctors Not On Permit List

Statistics from Columbus show that only 140 Ohio physicians have obtained permits to issue prescriptions for intoxicating beverages, and of these 70 are located in Columbus.

Prohibition Officer Shearer of Columbus said that he believes this is due to the fact that the permits are more accessible to Columbus doctors. Only three Columbus drug stores are permitted to fill prescriptions.

These facts are in contrast to Xenia where no physician has taken out a license to write prescriptions for whisky or alcohol and where no local drug store has secured a permit to sell such liquor.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards' produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel. Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 10c and 25c.

This is not a complete Greene county list of those who died in the service.

Memorial services were held by Wilbur H. Thomas Post, Jamestown last week, and certificates presented to next of kin of six men.

The certificates are elaborate. They show a group figure from the cenotaph in the Avenue des Champs Elysee, Paris. In the scroll above are the dates "1914-1919. Above the group is a quotation which freely translated reads "The people should come to pray at the graves of those who died for their country." The inscription reads, "To the memory of — of the United States of America, who died for liberty during the Great War, the homage of France," and the engraved signature of the president of French republic, Raymond Poincaré.

The American Legion was designated by the French government and the War Department of the United States, as the agent for distributing the certificates.

NO BACKWARD STEPS ON LIQUOR SAYS FESS

Washington, March 6.—"The Republican party must not take any backward step on the liquor question. In our national convention, we must go on record against any amendment to the national prohibition law and in favor of the enforcement of that law to the letter."

This statement was made today by Representative Simeon D. Fess, chairman of the Republican national congressional committee.

"Suppose the Democrats in national convention declare for beer and light wine?" he was asked. "Then we will fight it out," he replied. "We may lose in some places, but in a national way we will not lose."

Big Dates In This Republican Year

Tuesday, April 27. Primary for election of delegates to the Republican National Convention and for the election of Delegates to the Republican State Convention.

Tuesday, June 8. Republican National Convention at Chicago.

Friday, June 11. Last day of certification for county district and state offices.

Tuesday, June 29. Republican State Convention at Memorial Hall, Columbus, and Presidential Nomination Ratification meeting.

Tuesday, August 10. Republican primary for nomination of the state, district and county offices.

Tuesday, November 2. Presidential election.

INHALES TALCUM POWDER; THREATENED WITH PNEUMONIA

Playing with a box of talcum powder, Richard, the seven months' old son of Mr. and Mrs. John McCallmont of Trebrens, inhaled a quantity of the powder into his lungs causing an irritation that threatened pneumonia.

The baby is at the Espy hospital, where encouragement over its condition was felt by Dr. Paul Espey, Saturday. Parents of the child said that the top of the talcum powder box was broken so that it was practically impossible to get the powder out of it, yet the baby in playing with the box was able to remove the top and get a quantity of the powder into its mouth, inhaling it into the lungs. The baby was taken to the hospital immediately.

YORK IS BETTER.

Knoxville, Tenn. March 6.—Sergeant Alvin York, who has been dangerously ill with influenza at his home in Fall Mall, Tenn. is reported to be improving.

Local Doctors Not On Permit List

Statistics from Columbus show that only 140 Ohio physicians have obtained permits to issue prescriptions for intoxicating beverages, and of these 70 are located in Columbus.

Prohibition Officer Shearer of Columbus said that he believes this is due to the fact that the permits are more accessible to Columbus doctors. Only three Columbus drug stores are permitted to fill prescriptions.

These facts are in contrast to Xenia where no physician has taken out a license to write prescriptions for whisky or alcohol and where no local drug store has secured a permit to sell such liquor.

"BEST EVER" BALMWORK KIDNEY TABLETS

Mr. Chas. Atwell, 288 N. Champion Ave., Columbus, Ohio, writes: "I find that Balmwork Kidney Tablets are the best that I have ever used for Kidney and Bladder trouble. I am sure that they will cure me," etc. Mrs. M. J. Mader, 109 W. Abriendo St., Pueblo, Colo., writes: "I have used Balmwork Kidney Tablets and find them highly satisfactory." If weakness, rheumatic pains, "blues," etc., affect you, try the immediate benefits of taking Balmwork Tablets. All druggists sell them.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards' produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel. Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

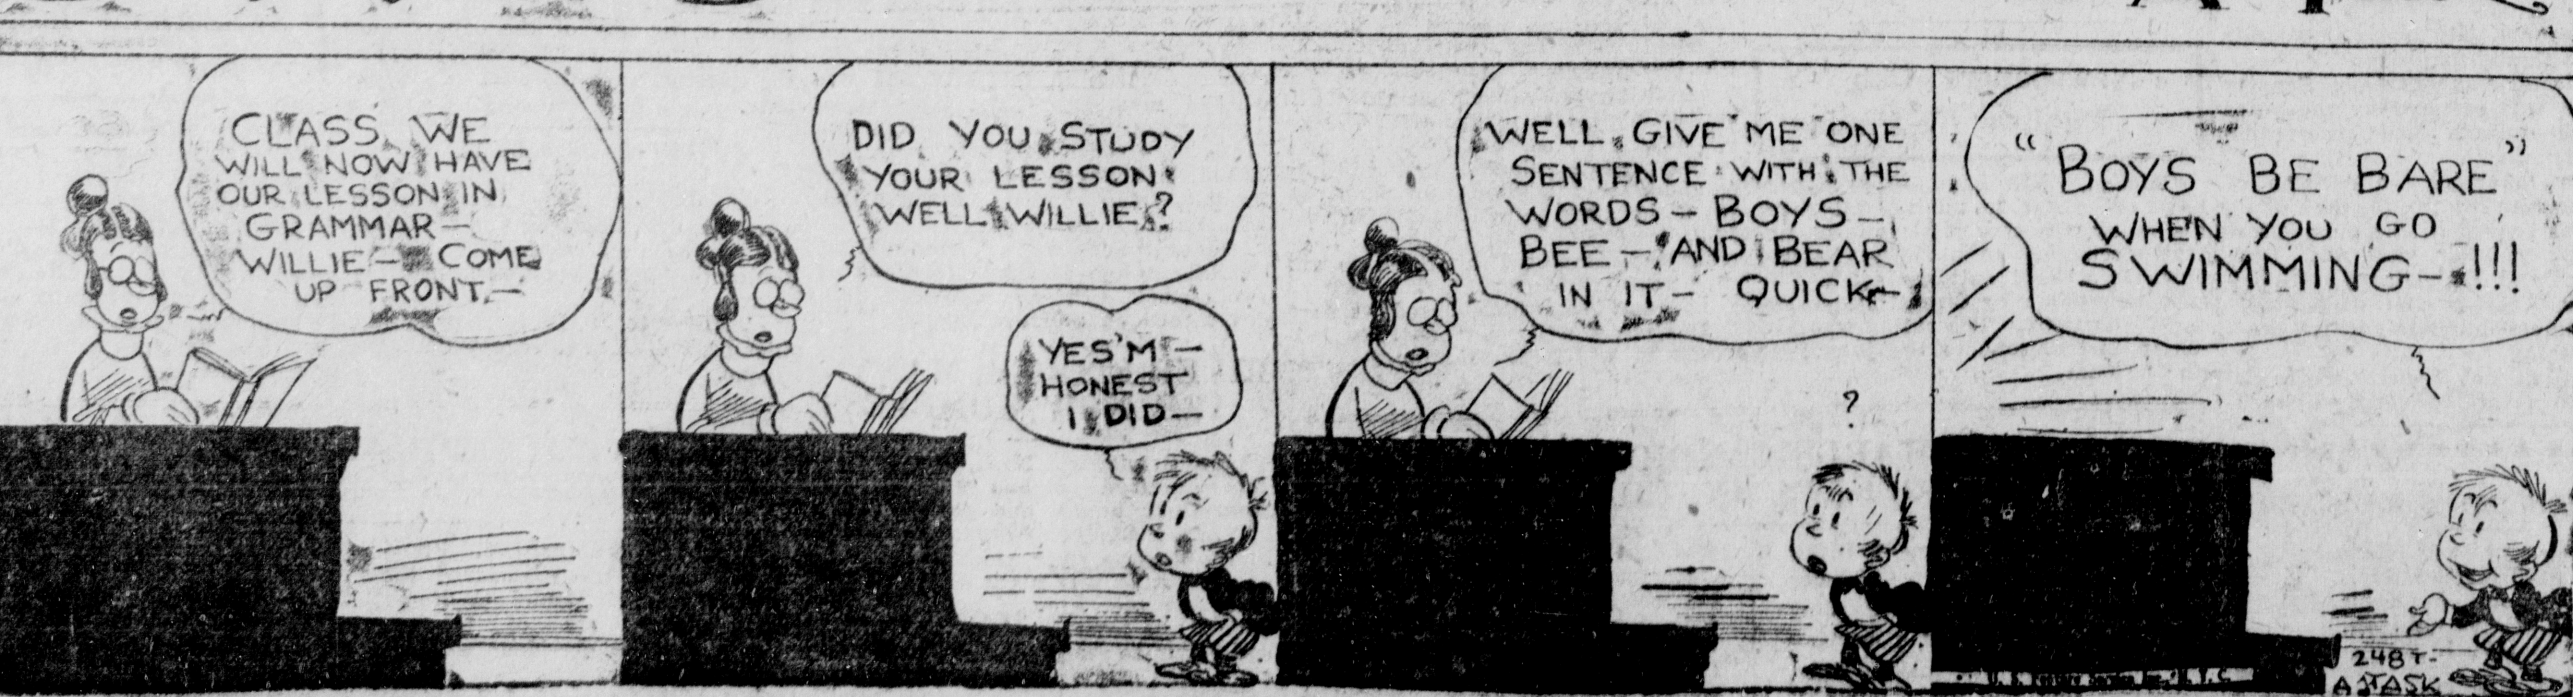

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action. If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime. Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 10c and 25c.

PURCHASE BY U. S. OF BERMUDA ISLANDS IS PROPOSED

General view of main harbor of the Bermudas.

Senator Kenyon of Iowa has offered a resolution requesting the U. S. government to open negotiations with the British government for purchase of the Bermudas.

Islands. Kenyon points out that the Bermudas occupy a strategic position, lying between the coast of the U. S. and the Virgin Islands, recently acquired from Denmark.

He points out that, considering the huge sum Great Britain owes the U. S. a satisfactory deal might be arranged. The Bermudas are known for their sunny climate.

UNITED STATES OF RUSSIA WILL BE FINAL OUTGROWTH OF PRESENT SOVIET FORM OF GOVERNMENT FREELY PREDICTED

Berlin, March 6.—The United States of Russia—a federation similar to the United States of America—is the future form that Russia will take, according to a prediction made today by Count Phalen, former Governor General of Vilna, who was president of West Russia in 1919. He added that there will be a central government like that at Washington but that it will take a long time for the new state to work out the and stabilize its existence. The West Russian regime was created during the violent fighting in the northern frontier of Poland and Petrograd during 1919, but it collapsed after a short existence. Its sympathies were said to be pro-Bolshevik and that it had the assistance of large forces of German troops that were then in Courland.

"I am convinced that the soviet government is too strongly entrenched to be overthrown now," said Count Phalen. "There was an opportunity for that last summer, but it was lost. The new Russian government appears to be a stable unit but I think that it will eventually evolve into a real representative institution."

"Some parts of Russia will develop faster in a political sense than others. These districts as autonomous states will retain virtually the same political rights as the American states, but they will eventually be part of the whole just as the states in America each represent an integral part of the union."

"Do you believe that the Baltic states will join the Russian federation?" Count Phalen was asked. He replied:

"They will be compelled to join because they control the seacoast. Otherwise it would be just as if the original thirteen American colonies had attempted to secede, cutting off the balance of America from the Atlantic coast."

"Lenine (the premier of soviet Russia) recognizes Russia's economic dependence upon the trade routes of Latvia and Estonia and in promising them local autonomy. But he is also said to be demanding that they join an economic alliance with Great Russia."

"I believe that the new United States of Russia will include Finland, Latvia, Estonia, Lithuania, Ukraine and Crimea."

While Lenine and Trotsky are striving for peace with the outside world, the resumption of commerce and the building up of Russia economically, they are looking far into the future. Lenine is quoted as saying that he is ambitious to "establish a working soviet government, controlled by the common people, which will arouse the admiration of the working classes in the other nations of Europe."

The officials of the soviet are hopeful of securing peace during the winter so that the spring would find the doorways of Russia open for exports and imports. Trotsky has elaborate plans under way for utilization of many of his best troops in industry and farm work, but so far as known only a small percentage of the great soviet army has been disbanded. The reluctance of the bolshevik leaders to demobilize reflected their fears of the allies' "peace intentions."

URGES LUMP SUM

Head of Private Soldiers' Legion Opposes Other Bonus Plans.

Washington, March 6.—Payment of a lump sum of $500 to each person who served in the military or naval forces of the United States was urged before the house ways and means committee by Marvin Gates Sperry, national president of the Private Soldiers and Sailors' Legion. He opposed proposals of representatives of other soldier organizations for adjusted compensation varying from $30 to $50 for every month of service. "The $500 grant," he told the committee, "would not be paid for time at so much a day or a month, but as a helping hand from the government to aid in restoring former service men and women to positions in civil life from which they were called without bargain or contract, without money and without price, to serve in time of need."

Discriminations in regard to the periods of service, he added, would only create confusion, delays and favoritism and breed jealousies and bad feelings.

OHIO HAPPENINGS

Auto Truck Falls on Man.
Steubenville, O., March 6.—Frank Taylor, 26, an automobile dealer, was probably fatally injured as the result of a peculiar accident. After he had lost control of his machine and was carried over a 70-foot embankment near Mingo Junction an automobile truck owned by James Brown of this city went over at the same spot and alighted on top of Taylor, while he was pinioned in the wreckage of his machine.

Kills Nephew and Fires Home.
Coshooton, O., March 6.—Riley Richeson, 50, uncle of David Richeson, who was cremated when his home burned to the ground, confessed to Sheriff Cullison and Coroner Cone that he discharged a shotgun into the face of the sleeping nephew and then fired the home. Revenge was given for the motive. Richeson declared he had been cruelly beaten by his nephew before they retired.

Faces Electric Chair.
Cleveland, March 6.—Joseph Deli was found guilty of first degree murder without a recommendation for mercy by a jury in Judge Phillips' criminal court. The verdict carries the death penalty. Deli was on trial for the murder of his 17-year-old bride on Jan. 14. Sentence was postponed pending the filing of a motion for a new trial.

Editor and War Veteran Dead.
Canton, O., March 6.—W. A. Pittenger, 75, former departmental commander of the Ohio G. A. R. and former newspaper editor and publisher, died at his home in Dennison. Following the war he established the Uhrichville Chronicle and later established the Paragraph at Dennison.

Community House Burns.
Chillicothe, O., March 6.—Fire destroyed the community house at Camp Sherman, near here. Origin of the fire is not known. A number of camp employees were sleeping in the structure, but all are believed to have escaped. The loss is placed at $30,000. No other buildings were endangered.

Freedom Gained by Ruse.
Akron, O., March 6.—Joe Cash, negro, changed places with Edward McClure, another negro prisoner in the county jail, and gained his liberty as a result. Cash was awaiting trial on a charge of pocket picking. McClure had completed a 30-day jail sentence on a minor offense.

Jury Unable to Agree.
Cincinnati, March 6.—The jury failed to reach an agreement in the trial of John D. Allen, Hamilton contractor, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of former Congressman Stanley Bowdle. Bowdle was struck and killed by Allen's automobile.

Escapes Death Chair.
Akron, O., March 6.—Peter Cafarelli, on trial for the second time charged with first degree murder in the killing of Patrolman George Werne on March 9, 1919, escaped the death chair. The jury returned a verdict of guilty, but recommended mercy.

Mr. and Mrs. William Short (Ada Swindler) of the Stone road, are announcing the birth of a baby daughter, born Thursday morning.

DON'T FUSS WITH MUSTARD PLASTERS!

Musterole Works Without the Blister—Easier, Quicker

There's no sense in mixing a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Musterole.

Musterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, combined in the form of the present white ointment. It takes the place of mustard plasters, and will not blister.

Musterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bitten feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia), 30c and 60c jars; hospital size $2.50.

COUNT YOUR BLESSINGS—HERE'S ONE THAT PERHAPS YOU HAD NOT INCLUDED.

It was yesterday that we were trying to "count our blessings," when a friend reminded us of several important ones which we had overlooked, and which we acknowledged—for in reality who can count all his blessings at first trial? And last night, in the quiet of the silent, hours, we thought of another unspeakably precious blessing which we enjoy, and yet scarce ever give a thought of thanks for Sleep—Tired Nature's Sweet Restorer.

An old philosopher gives this grand eulogy of this, one of our nightly comforts: "Blessings on him who first invented Sleep. It covers a man all over, thoughts, and all, like a cloak. It is meat for the hungry, drink for the thirsty, heat for the cold, and cold for the hot. It makes the shepherd equal to the monarch, and the fool to the wise." Surely that seems to fill the bill of humanity's need—the very opposite of one of man's most frightful enemies, insomnia.

Leigh Hunt turned tory during our revolutionary days and went off to England, but he was an author of note, writing many beautiful things, and among them gave this quite elaborate and poetic description of "how we go to sleep:" "It is a delicious moment, certainly, that of being nestled in bed and feeling that you shall drop gently to sleep. The good is to come, not past; the limbs are tired enough to render the remaining in one posture delightful. A gentle failure of the perceptions creeps over you: the spirit of consciousness disengages itself, and with slow and hushing degrees, like a mother detaching her hand from that of a sleeping child, the mind seems to have a balmy lid closing over it—it is closed—the mysterious spirit has gone to take its airy rounds."

But deliciously gracious as is this God-given blessing of Sleep to mankind in general, perhaps you have never thought of what it means to one who has been pain racked with disease during the waking hours. To such it is a fore-taste of heaven, giving surcease from the ills to which flesh is heir. Ah, how refreshing the thought of how we had enjoyed it, when we first wake up, and turned over to hope for more of it.

So, when you next "count your blessings, count them one by one"—do not forget to include this most important one of delightful Sleep. Perhaps you had never remembered to thank God for it. Do so tonight.

THE WONDERFUL ASPIRING SPIRIT OF MAN.

When Peary reached the Pole many asked whether any data of scientific value were obtained by the completion of the effort of centuries; and the question is raised in the case of Major R. W. Schroeder, who, flying from the very city that witnessed the first experiments of the Wright brothers, has pierced the azure to a height no flying man had reached before him. Glaisher in 1862 ascended in his balloon to a height now calculated to be 28,543 feet, and Berson (with a supply of oxygen) reached 30,025 feet in 1894. In 1901 Berson and another are said to have obtained 35,600 feet in the balloon "Prussia." But now the Major's 36,060 feet has bettered all authenticated records, and apparently, he might have reached the 40,000 feet on which his heart was set if the oxygen tanks had held out.

It is not for the corrective meteorological data that may be obtained from this spectacular flight that it will be popularly appreciated. The public knew little of the hydrographic or magnetic data Peary collected as his successive expeditions took him ever nearer the Pole, but it was stirred by his brave and indomitable endeavor. Interplanetary navigation is still afar off; and though Major Schroeder's exploit is a suggestion of the day to come, it is still a far cry to the time when Mars and the earth will be on visiting terms. But the spirit of valor and self-control this man showed when he brought his machine to earth after his fall is the spirit that must lead to great achievements in science in the future.

Seeing in a store window the other day a display of Bibles alongside a similar outlay of pocket chips, we couldn't help but wonder whether the former was trying to reform the latter or whether the latter was trying to corrupt the former.

A Chicago bank recently stated that it would permit none of its male employees to marry unless they had an income of $125 per month. This leads to the query of whether that bank is interfering with, or promoting the continuation of the race.

Now that Bergdoll, alleged Philadelphia draft dodger has failed to have his case put before a civil court, we shall see what influence money has in the army.

Why all this international fuss over a bad penny? Let Holland keep the ex-Kaiser, we don't want him anyway.

TWO DEAD—RESULT OF FATAL MISHAPS IN DAYTON FRIDAY

Autos Crash, and Train Hits Man Killing Two.

Two men are dead as the result of accidents in Dayton Friday afternoon. John L. C. Miller, 39, having been struck and cut to pieces by Baltimore and Ohio north bound train No. 54, and Robert E. Floyd, 27, clerk at the Platt Iron Works, having died as the result of an automobile collision at Brown and Wyoming streets.

Miller was on foot, and it is believed that he stepped on the track at a crossing south of Dayton and did not hear or see the approaching train. Trainmen did not know they had struck the man, until they found particles of human flesh on the engine pilot on arriving in Dayton.

Floyd's death was the result of a collision between a car driven by Benjamin F. Sebastian, West First street, Dayton, and a car driven by Frank Long, 39 Indiana avenue, Dayton. Sebastian's machine was hurled onto the sidewalk and against a building, catching and crushing Floyd under the wreckage. He died from a fractured skull in Miami Valley Hospital. Sebastian escaped uninjured and Long sustained minor injuries.

"You know that anarchy reigns in Russia?"

"I hear so," said the anarchist.

"Many of your theories have been carried out?"

"True."

"Then why are you so reluctant to return?"

A student had a barrel of ale deposited in his room, contrary, of course, to rule and usage. He received a summons to appear before the president.

"Sir, I am informed that you have barrel of ale in your room," said he latter.

"Yes, sir."

"Well, what explanation can you make?"

"Why, the fact is, sir, my physician advises me to try a little each day as a tonic, and not wishing to go to the various places where the beverage is retailed, I arranged to have a barrel taken to my room."

"Indeed, and have you derived any benefit from the use of it?"

"Oh, yes, sir. When the barrel was first taken to my room I could scarcely lift it. Now I can carry it easily."

"How's this, Dauber? You've jangled Father Time with a mowing machine instead of a scythe."

"That's all right. We artists must keep up with modern inventive progress, you know."

"You have used our make of car for a year now."

"Yes."

"Haven't you some views about it? Something we could use for publication?"

"My views wouldn't be suitable for publication."

NEW YORK AGAIN IN GRIP OF BAD BLIZZARD

New York, March 6.—After a brief taste of spring weather, New York awoke today to find itself in the grip of another blizzard with many streets completely blocked by high drifts of snow that were piled up by a 65 miles an hour wind.

This latest blizzard which bore down upon the city from the west was heralded by nearly an inch and a half of rain before the precipitation turned to sleet and hail and finally to snow. Traffic was completely paralyzed throughout the whole metropolitan area and some of the suburban railroad lines reported the worst conditions of the winter. Heavy damage was done by the high wind throughout the city.

The wind blew with terrific velocity off the Atlantic coast and special precautions were taken by life saving stations to aid vessels in distress. The thermometer dropped from 48 to 30 degrees above zero within a few hours.

SAYS "FLO-FLO" IS FEAST OF GOOD FUN

John Cort's hilarious, musical pageant of beauty, wit and fashion entitled "Flo-Flo", which delighted New York for one year at the Cort Theater, and which comes to the opera house here Saturday night, is rated as a veritable feast of fun, femininity and frivolity.

The Frankfort Morning Times, of Frankfort, Indiana, carried a particularly complimentary review of the production following its appearance in that city recently, and advance news on the production herald it as one of the snappiest of this season's hits.

The "Perfect 36" chorus is widely featured as the only comedy chorus ever seen on a New York stage. Its eccentric dancing never fails to please, and the fact that the offering is of the musical girly comedy style, makes it unusually popular. "Flo-Flo", a pulchritudinous though vampirish corset model gives the show its title.

For a pain around the heart after eating

TAKE PEPSINCO

Sometimes in front just under the heart, sometimes around under the left side, under the ribs behind the heart its a sharp or acute pain, sometimes a dull heavy pain leaving a soreness, its gas on the inside generated through gaseous foods or because of systematic inability to properly assimilate the food this gas soon collecting, forms a lump that causes the pain. This is only one of a dozen different indications of indigestion which PEPSINCO immediately relieves. Keep PEPSINCO handy and take it the next time.

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE

"How may I, without appearing rude, refuse to dance when invited to do so by a gentleman at a ball?" ask Maud.

"I am sorry, but I have none to spare, or Thank you, but I am going to rest through this number," are sufficient explanations to offer in refusal of an invitation to dance," helped her older sister.

MOTORAIDS

In taking your car from winter storage this spring remember to do the following. Clean the top, wash the car, clean the engine, change the oil, change the grease, clean the spark plugs, adjust the valves, take out the carbon, inflate the tires and clean and arrange the tools.

A good trip to take once in a while, is under the car to see what is going on there. Inspect the brake conditions to see if they need attention in oiling or in the way they fit on the wheels. See if they are wearing out or weakening. Sometimes one finds grease cups that have been neglected for so long a time that they are useless. It is also well to look at the universal joint to see if it is loosening up or needs grease.

Owners who desire accuracy should have the speedometer checked up at least once every year. The cost is nominal and it is usually worth while to know just what your car is doing accurately.

QUINTET OF B. B. TOSSERS FROM YELLOW SP. GET WIN

Yellow Springs High School basketball team is still going strong at the state tournament at Delaware, having taken two games, defeating St. Paris High in the second tray, 24-10, Friday night.

A telegram to the Gazette from Coach H. M. Little Saturday bore the information that the next game was scheduled with Marietta and would be played sometime today. While Little's lads had considerable difficulty in defeating Westerville, crowding that team out by a narrow margin in an overtime contest, the St. Paris outfit was easy for the Greene county quintet, and the game made the going easier for them in anticipation of the hard game with Marietta.

Marietta has always maintained a real contender among the southern division teams, and it is safe to say that the Yellow Springs lads are looking for some formidable opposition in this contest. Steele and Stivers, of Dayton, both have had an easy time of it so far. Steele defeating Lockland 29-12, and Greenfield 16-12, while Stivers defeated Williamsport, 41-1, having drawn a tie in the early games. Fairview was eliminated in the first game by Columbus North 33-18.

St. Paris won the right to play Yellow Springs by defeating Pomeroy, 18-14. Marietta, which team will be met next by the Yellow Springs five has defeated Berlin, 23-3, and Ansonia, 32-1.

Osborn High School is also going good, having drawn a tie in the first series, and defeated Groveport in the second series, 20-2. Springfield has defeated Ostrander, 36-3, and Hyatts, 32-17. Middletown was eliminated in its second game by Cambridge 21-14. Dopesters pick Steele, Stivers, Cambridge, Delaware and Columbus North to fight it out. Both Troy and Tippecanoe City have won twice and are still in the running.

SENIOR CLASS TO GIVE FUNDS TO FIELD

The Senior class of Central High School stepped back into line with the movement for a school athletic field, by voting to subscribe the fund derived from the class play to that purpose.

However, the class will not dedicate its fund to the field itself, as classes have in the past, but because the field is now assured through F. W. Dodds, the class will donate its fund for some particular purpose in connection with equipping the field. The plan of classes donating their funds to this purpose was inaugurated several years and was continued two years ago, the last two classes using their funds for other purposes.

YELLOW SPRINGS HI WINS FIRST LAP

Yellow Springs High School basketball team won the first lap in its fight for honors among the Southern Division teams at the interscholastic tournament at Ohio Wesleyan University, Friday, by defeating Westerville High School, 25-23. The game was an overtime contest, extra minutes being necessary to decide the affair.

A telegram giving these bare facts was the only information received by this paper concerning the game: Yellow Springs High, under the coaching of Harold Little, former captain and star basketball player at Antioch College, has been showing unusual form this year. The team has defeated both Springfield and Xenia and other Greene county teams are hearing these lads when they get together in the annual county tournament at Yellow Springs.

NINTH STRAIGHT WIN BY METEORS

St. Brigid's Meteors won their ninth straight game at the Rink, Friday night, by defeating the Dayton Oswegos, 31-8.

The locals never gave the Dayton quintet a chance to get started. Hendrickson dropping in a fielder when the game had hardly started, and the scoring machine working smoothly from then until the end of the half. The period ended with the Meteors leading, 14-6.

The Meteors started out with a rush in the second session, and while they were piling up a huge point total, managed to prevent their opponents from securing but one lonely field goal. Neville played a whirlwind game for the locals, as did Purdom, who annexed six fielders. Hendrickson at center, also played well as did Leahey and Gallagher at the guards. Fricke and Zellars were the shining lights of the Oswegos.

The line-up and summary:

Meteors 31 Oswegos 8
Purdom L. F. Otto Neville R. F. Fricke Hendrickson C. Rauff Leahey L. G. Zellars Gallagher R. G. Hoffmargarner Substitutions—Johnson for Rauff. Scoring: Meteors—Field goals: Purdom 6, Neville 5, Hendrickson 2, Leahey, Gallagher. Four goals: Neville. Oswegos—Field goals: Fricke 2, Zellars, Hoffmargarner. Time—20 minute halves. Referee—Rachford. The Meteors are negotiating with the St. Mary's Marians for a game next week.

ZBYSZKO, BACK IN U. S., WRESTLED FOR HIS LIFE IN RUSSIA

Stanislaus Zbyszko, the first of the Zbyszko brothers to star in the wrestling game, recently returned to the U. S. after an absence of ten years.

By Norman E. Brown. Stanislaus Zbyszko, famous Polish wrestler, who has just returned to the U. S. after an absence of about ten years, telling a thrilling story dealing with the revolutionary days in Russia that would make a capital movie scenario.

The bulky gent with the pious name was in Petrograd when the war broke out in 1914, and because he was a native of Galicia, which was then under Austrian rule, the Russians promptly interned him.

"I wasn't locked up," says the big Pole. "They merely insisted that I remain in Russia and report often to the officials. I was allowed to wrestle and took part in several matches."

"Then along came Kerensky and the revolution which he led. His reign nearly cost me my life. "George Yurich and Alex. Aberg wrestlers well known in the U. S. were monopolizing the sport in Russia, to such an extent that to oppose them in any way was dangerous. Aberg owed me 6,000 rubles, though, and I tried to collect it. He refused to pay me and told the police of Petrograd that I was an Austrian spy, merely posing as a great wrestler so that I could roam about Russia collecting information."

"The country was swarming with spies then and the police made little ado about arresting them and sentencing them to jail or the firing squad. "When they arrested me I thought my time had come. But the police in quizzing me, let out the fact that Aberg said I was not a well known wrestler but that I was faking the role to get by. This gave me a chance. I asked the police to let me wrestle Aberg to prove that I was a real star and not an imposter. They ordered Aberg to give me a chance at him—much against his will. When we stepped onto the mat I saw in a minute that Aberg had packed the place with his friends and that I would have to win decisively to get out alive.

"After two hours of wrestling, such as Americans—or any other fans have seen—I threw him. The police released me and ordered Aberg to pay me the 6,000 rubles. He gave me 1,000 rubles in the ring.

"Aberg and Lurich got in Dutch when Kerensky was driven from power by the Reds. The Bolsheviks threw the pair in jail, and Aberg was booked to face a firing squad, but managed to escape. I think both of them are in Turkey now."

SPRING HAT STYLES PROMISE NOVELTIES TO WOMEN; PATENT LEATHER POPULAR

This spring you may dress your head as well as your feet, in patent leather.

Patent leather hats are among the novelties of the season's offerings. One finds them in the Xenia shops in the small toque, which is embroidered in silk or wool and in the small narrow brimmed sailor, with trimmings of silk or wool flowers, embroidered or appliqued on.

Then there is the cellophane, a new glossy braid, which the designers of women's hats have made to please the eye of the early millinery shopper. And please the eye it does. Most attractive ornaments are constructed of the new material, which is also used to fashion flowers and fruit in gay colorings, and to make the hats themselves.

Raffia has come into its own again. This time as a trimming. Raffia embroidery is being largely used as a trimming for hats, and for dresses as well. It makes a most attractive trimming in the bright colors.

And grasscloth. One thinks at first glance at the new hats in this material, of the grass skirts worn by the stage Hiwallians. But the grasscloth hats are extremely lovely. They are made in rich shades, and the fringed edge of the brim makes a soft contour for the face.

The most popular shades in spring millinery are jade and emerald green, peacock blue, cherry and nasturtium shades. But the ever brown and navy blue have lost none of their popularity. They are found in the local shops in an endless variety of becoming styles. The toque, the new straight brimmed or rolled brim sailor, the wide brimmed hat. Any woman may find the headgear that is most becoming to her particular style. The hat with brim rolled away from the face is one of the very popular spring styles.

The transparent hat is still extremely smart. These hats are constructed entirely of maline, or of Chantilly lace, without lining. In black they are very good. Glycerine oiled ostrich which sprang into a year ago, is still a popular trimming, and is found on many of the smarter hats.

QUINTET OF B. B. TOSSERS FROM YELLOW SP. GET WIN

Yellow Springs High School basketball team is still going strong at the state tournament at Delaware, having taken two games, defeating St. Paris High in the second fray, 24-10, Friday night.

A telegram to the Gazette from Coach H. M. Little Saturday bore the information that the next game was scheduled with Marietta and would be played sometime today. While Little's lads had considerable difficulty in defeating Westerville, crowding that team out by a narrow margin in an overtime contest, the St. Paris outfit was easy for the Greene county quintet, and the game made the going easier for them in anticipation of the hard game with Marietta.

Marietta has always maintained a real contender among the southern division teams, and it is safe to say that the Yellow Springs lads are looking for some formidable opposition in this contest. Steele and Stivers, of Dayton, both have had an easy time of it so far. Steele defeated Lockland 29-12, and Greenfield 16-12, while Stivers defeated Williamsport, 41-1, having drawn a tie in the early games. Fairview was eliminated in the first game by Columbus North 33-18.

St. Paris won the right to play Yellow Springs by defeating Pomeroy, 18-14. Marietta, which team will be met next by the Yellow Springs five has defeated Berlin, 23-3, and Ansonia, 32-1.

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am another girl somewhat similar to "High Tootin' Sallie," as I have shamefully become acquainted with a boy on the streets and I let him take me home.

On the way home he stopped his car by the roadside and began to talk in a way I did not like. Then he started to act rather tough and I let him do a few things of which I am ashamed now. I walk around the house at times and just think of that and it makes me feel terribly.

I wonder if you understand. He did nothing to hurt me, but no doubt my reputation has a stain now, and oh, how I repent doing as I did. I lived two miles from town then, but live in town now. If it had not been so far I would have walked home.

Can I regain my good reputation if I have hurt it?

E. C. H.
You can regain your self-respect and when you respect yourself people will have respect for you. Do not permit yourself to grieve over your mistake. Consider it a blessing and profit by it.

You have formed an ideal of right and wrong now and need never make the same mistake again. When tempted, hold tightly to your ideals and you will build a splendid character.

This little experience will make you more tolerant of others who back-slide. Everyone makes mistakes only it takes a broad nature to admit it. I do not mean that every one has experienced what you have. There are various ways of falling down; one of the most serious I think is to lose sympathy and understanding of others who are repentant.

It is far more important that you should begin now to do the right thing than to spend your time thinking of the wrong you have done.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am sixteen years old and in love with a young fellow who does not live in my town. I have been going with him and corresponding for about two months.

I love him very much and I don't know whether he loves me. When he is with me he acts as though he cares a great deal.

How can I win his love? He talks about another girl once in a while. What shall I do?
HELEN H.
Love goes where it will. Accept the young man as a friend and do not think about love. If he has not object since you are so young and not engaged. Wait two or three years before you permit yourself to have love affairs. You will be thankful later if you wait. Love making becomes promiscuous if it starts too early.

In reply to "1, 2, 3": You should not phone the young man. If he cares for you as much as you think he does he will phone you again. It was a trifling matter that you refused to see him one time and such a thing would not stand in the course of true love. Do not take the initiative in your romance or you will surely lose the man. He is competent to do his own courting.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have known a girl for about a year. She lives out of town and I have been writing to her regularly. She is only about sixteen.

I want to give her a Christmas present and I think I would like to give her a manuring set. Do you think that is all right and proper? If not, would you please name a few presents and oblige.
JACK.

Your suggestion is good. I am sure the girl would be pleased with a manuring set.

HOME MADE RECIPE CATARRH AND COLDS

Nonexpensive—Cut This Out.

Thousands are making this beneficial remedy at home and any one who has catarrh or a cold can do the same.

Ask your druggist for three quarters of an ounce of Mentholized Arcine and pour it into a pint bottle, then fill the bottle with water that has been boiled.

Gargle the throat as directed and sniff or spray the liquid into the nostrils twice daily. It's a simple way to get rid of cold and catarrh and keeps the nasal passage and throat so clean and healthy that germs of flu or any other germs will have a hard time gaining a foothold.

WAS NERVOUS AND RUN DOWN

RESTORED TO NORMAL HEALTH BY BIO-FEREN

"I feel I owe you people a world of gratitude for the benefit I have received in using your wonderful remedy—Bio-feren Tablets, which have completely restored me to normal conditions," says Joseph E. Webb of Muncie, Indiana.

Bio-feren is without doubt the grandest and quickest remedy for nervous, run down, weak, anemic men and women ever offered direct through the druggists and is not at all expensive.

Take two after each meal and one at bed time, and after seven days take one after each meal and one at bed time until the supply is exhausted.

Then if you feel that any claim made in this special notice is untrue—if you are not in better health—if you do not feel ambitious, more vigorous and keen minded, yes, twice as much as you did before, the druggist who sold you the tablets will gladly hand you back just what you paid for them.

All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand, or can easily get it for you. Seven a day for seven days—Wonderful results.

CAN'T MARRY ON LESS THAN $125

Chicago, March 6.—A book of rules for employees of the federal reserve bank of Chicago, circulated today, says "no male employee receiving less than $125 a month salary will be permitted to marry while in the service of this bank without first taking the matter up with the chief clerk."

"The sum set in the book is the minimum on which an employee can risk a matrimonial venture," said C. R. McKay, vice governor of the bank, who added that the rule was "imperative."

"The bank officials believe that is the least sum on which two may live in these days," he said.

ORPHIUM TO-NIGHT

"THE PROSPECTOR'S VENGEANCE"—A two reel Western drama featuring GEORGE FIELD and MILDRED MOORE. Enough for a 5 reel, packed into latest action Western.

J.A. BEATTY AND SON DEPENDABLE FURNITURE

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am another girl somewhat similar to "High Tootin' Sallie," as I have shamefully become acquainted with a boy on the streets and I let him take me home.

On the way home he stopped his car by the roadside and began to talk in a way I did not like. Then he started to act rather tough and I let him do a few things then of which I am ashamed now. I walk around the house at times and just think of that and it makes me feel terribly.

I wonder if you understand. He did nothing to hurt me, but no doubt my reputation has a stain now, and oh, how I regret doing as I did.

I lived two miles from town then, but live in town now. If it had not been so far I would have walked home.

Can I regain my good reputation if I have hurt it?

E. C. H.

You can regain your self-respect and when you respect yourself people will have respect for you. Do not permit yourself to grieve over your mistake. Consider it a blessing and profit by it.

You have formed an ideal of right and wrong now and need never make the same mistake again. When tempted, hold tightly to your ideals and you will build a splendid character.

This little experience will make you more tolerant of others who backslide. Everyone makes mistakes only it takes a broad nature to admit it. I do not mean that every one has experienced what you have. There are various ways of falling down; one of the most serious I think is to lose sympathy and understanding of others who are repentant.

It is far more important that you should begin now to do the right thing than to spend your time thinking of the wrong you have done.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am sixteen years old and in love with a young fellow who does not live in my town. I have been going with him and corresponding for about two months.

I love him very much and I don't know whether he loves me. When he is with me he acts as though he cares a great deal.

How can I win his love? He talks about another girl once in a while. What shall I do?

HELEN H.

Love goes where it will. Accept the young man as a friend and do not think about love. If he has another girl friend you have no right to object since you are so young and not engaged. Wait two or three years before you permit yourself to have love affairs. You will be thankful later if you wait. Love making becomes promiscuous if it starts too early.

In reply to "1, 2, 3": You should not phone the young man. If he cares for you as much as you think he does he will phone you again. It was a trifling matter that you refused to see him one time and such a thing would not stand in the course of true love. Do not take the initiative in your romance or you will surely lose the man. He is competent to do his own courting.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have known a girl for about a year. She lives out of town and I have been writing to her regularly. She is only about sixteen.

I want to give her a Christmas present and I think I would like to give her a manicuring set. Do you think that is all right and proper? If not, would you please name a few presents and oblige.

JACK.

Your suggestion is good. I am sure the girl would be pleased with a manicuring set.

home in Columbus, according to advices received here.

Mr. Espey was born in Xenia and was about 72 years of age. He had lived here a great part of his life, excepting for times when he lived in Springfield, Denver, Col., and Monmouth, Ill. He was at one time engaged in the manufacture of an embalming fluid in Springfield, and later was in the insurance business in this city.

Mr. Espey married Miss Lyda Cisco, who preceded him in death about 8 years. About four years ago he moved to Columbus, where he has since made his home. There were no children, but Mr. and Mrs. Espey raised their niece and nephew, Harry Lutz, and Miss Myrtle Lutz, in their home.

The body will be brought to this city Tuesday afternoon and brief services will be held at Woodland chapel at 3:30 o'clock. Burial will be made in Woodland.

MARKET AND FINANCIAL NEWS

Farmers Have Important Stake in Efficiency of Railroads—Pressure Grows for Truth-in-Fabric Law—Daylight Saving Agitated—Packers Again Under Fire.

The farmers are watching for improvement in the car situation. It is felt in some quarters that return of the railroads to private hands will mean a heavier grain movement and eastern points. The first is by no means clear, as the farmers have been holding as a protest against existing prices and may continue doing so regardless of the car situation. Nevertheless the fact remains that the car shortage has prevented many farmers from marketing their stocks of grain and discharging various obligations.

The farmers have a very real stake in the efficiency of railroad transportation and earnestly desire relief from the car shortage and the return of more settled conditions before next season's crop movement. When the railroads do not function properly, the difficulties encountered in operating the present cumbersome machinery of distribution are aggravated and the burden of expense increases. The farmers may be expected to show a growing interest in the development of water transportation insofar as this offers a possibility of lower freight rates and more direct communication between producer and consumer.

Pressure from the country districts for the passage of a "Truth-in-Fabric" law is growing and the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce will hold hearings on the subject. Several bills are pending. One includes all fabrics while another is confined to wool. No immediate action upon these bills is probable.

Business organizations, women's clubs, and a good many labor unions in the cities are continuously agitating for a daylight savings measure of some kind, and the prospect is that many cities will do business this year an hour ahead of the country districts, surrounding them or from which they draw support. While this want of co-ordination would cause no little inconvenience, the farmers generally prefer it to universal daylight saving.

City people declare that office and factory workers benefit both mentally and morally from the extra daylight hour in the evening. Representatives of farm organizations counter with the statement that daylight saving drives labor from the farms, reduces food production and increases prices.

The big packers are still—or again—being investigated. The public has long awaited a definite and final settlement of the controversy. The recent decision, separating the meat packing from affiliated industries, seemingly brought years of Federal investigation to a triumphant conclusion. Yet it proves otherwise. The House Committee on Agriculture has re-opened the interminable inquiry. Representative Anderson favors divorcing the packers from the ownership of refrigerator cars and establishing a Federal commission to regulate the packing industry.

While many farmers do not feel altogether kindly toward the stockyards interests, they recognize that stock growers as well as packers must suffer from the constant probing which seems only to surround the packing industry with new uncertainties.

The railroads return to private hands can afford no large measure of immediate relief. Yet were cars abundant the growers would be none too anxious to sell, stoutly maintaining as they do that prices at stockyards are so near cost of production as to make stock raising progressively more unprofitable. The export outlook has not changed tangibly, although credit schemes and rumors of schemes are numerous.

Cotton. Doubt is expressed as to whether recent advances in the cotton market point to a sustained advance, or even whether these prices can be maintained. Reports to the Railroad administration indicate that exchange rates are affecting exports to European countries, although so far total shipments have been reassuring. Future exports will be large unless a debacle occurs in the exchange market. Credits may yet arrive to stimulate the movement overseas. At home the price tendency admittedly points downward, if only for the time, and amid the current atmosphere of caution and uncertainty a vigorous bull movement in the Southern staple seems unlikely.

Wool.
Wool growers are encouraged by the large January consumption of 72,700,000 pounds, which compares with 38,200,000 pounds in January, 1919 and 65,100,000 in 1918. The growers' persistent confidence in the continuance of high values finds some warrant. Thirty-three per cent was fine wool—the largest on record since the Bureau of Markets inaugurated its monthly report of consumption. Quite recently the American wool markets have been lethargic and sales inconsiderable. Improvement is expected after the government auctions scheduled for March 3 to 6. Traffic difficulties still handicap the trade, impeding shipments and threatening mill stocks. Tight money and the Federal Reserve board's attitude discourage the speculative holding of stocks.

Metals.
Steel producers show a disposition to keep prices on basic materials near present levels, although the unsatisfied demand is great. The market's undertone is slightly easier. Rail embargoes and car shortage force yard accumulations and handicap production as heretofore. The automobile industry is bidding eagerly for supplies. Railroad buying this year should be heavy and compensate for loss of exports. Foreign inquiries receive scant consideration.

Stocks.
The past few weeks have seen a renewal of emphasis upon the money stringency, which underlies the entire present movement, and precludes all possibility of an extended rise. The outstanding fact marketwise has been the tax payments due by March 15, amounting to $1,000,000,000 or thereabouts. Many holders have doubtless liquidated in order to raise money for tax payments, and others have yet to do it. The bank statements continue a restraining influence. On the other hand, stock exchange loans have been greatly reduced, as is frequently pointed out.

The short account and cash investment buying continue important factors in the market. The size of the short interest is disputed. Traders foresee dull sessions in which the market becomes temporarily oversold and rallies under short covering. Technical conditions will exert predominating and disproportionate influence.

Grain.
The frequent gains in corn and oats, amid a general atmosphere of bearishness due largely to the prospect of an abrupt decline in exports and last season's bumper crop, have until recently been owing almost entirely to the continuance of light receipts. For these both the farmer's disinclination to sell and the car shortage are held responsible. Recently two new factors have confirmed the intermittent upward trend—the probability of national credit arrangements which have for their object the shipment of foodstuffs to a number of smaller European countries and the abnormal consumption of corn and oats during the past four months together with private estimates of farm reserves. The wheat, corn, and oats visible on February 21 were much below last year. What exports have been quite large, although much below those of 1919. At the same time Argentine wheat and corn shipments have increased enormously over last year and very material over previous weeks.

Live Stock.
Diminishing receipts recently tended to push hog and cattle prices higher, while sheep and lambs held fairly steady.

Veal Cutlet, Baltimore Style.—Remove the bones from one pound of rib veal chops. Shape round and fasten with a toothpick. Dip in flour and then in beaten egg and roll in fine breadcrumbs. Fry until golden brown in hot fat. Lift from frying pan and place in hot baking dish. Put in hot oven while preparing the sauce. Drain the fat from the pan, leaving about six tablespoons of flour. Brown flour until dark and then add one and one-quarter cups of water. Stir to blend and then bring to a boil and add one cupful of crushed canned tomatoes, one and one-half teaspoonsful of salt, three-quarters teaspoonful of white pepper, one-quarter teaspoonful of mustard, tiny pinch of cloves.

Cook for five minutes and then pour over the cutlets and let bake in a hot oven for ten minutes.

Bread Omelet.—One and one-half cups of dried, crumbled, whole wheat crusts, four eggs, one cup of milk, one tablespoon of ham or sausage fat, one and one-half teaspoons of salt, one-quarter teaspoon of pepper and Ross. Mr. Tabor will also address a meeting in Bellbrook Thursday night. He will talk on the labor situation. Representative W. B. Bryson will give a talk on taxation problems.

FIRE PREVENTION HELPS OUTLINED

The official bulletin of the Ohio State Fire Marshal's Department, issued by State Fire Marshal William J. Leonard, contains interesting, if appalling, news of the enormous fire losses and astonishing hazards throughout the state.

The report shows that the department now has two Greene county fires under investigation. One of them is the disastrous fire at the Yellow Springs Canning Company,

Cook the bread and milk together until pasty. Beat the egg yolks and add to the milk mixture. Add the seasoning and beaten egg whites. Melt the fat in a pan, and pour in the mixture.

Cook as usual, setting in oven a few moments when nearly done, to make top firm.

Fruit Salad.—One pound white grapes, one can pineapple (diced), one can sliced peaches, lettuce leaves (crisp), three-quarter cup whipped cream, one-quarter cup orange juice, one-quarter cup pineapple juice, one egg well beaten, one-half cup sugar.

Heat fruit juices. Beat sugar into egg. Add mixture to hot fruit juices and cook until spoon is well coated. Remove to pan of cold water and beat until smooth. Then fold in whipped cream. Pour over fruit which has been arranged in separate molds on lettuce leaves. Serve.

TRY THESE

English Plum Pudding.—One pound suet minced fine, one-half pound seedless raisins, one pound currants, one tablespoon baking powder, three tablespoons bread crumbs, one tablespoon cinnamon, nutmeg, a little salt, four ounces candied citron and lemon peel, six tablespoons flour, seven ounces brown sugar, eight eggs well beaten, two wine glasses fruit juice or cider. If too thick, add a little milk.

Mix all dry ingredients first, eggs and fruit juice or cider last.

Puree of Cabbage and Potatoes.—Equal parts of boiled, finely minced cabbage and mashed potatoes, well seasoned with salt, pepper, butter and hot milk. May be placed in the oven a few minutes after combining to heat through.

which burned with a big loss, and the other is the fire at the home of Charles H. Wright in this city.

The bulletin heralds fire prevention as the big factor in the fire fighter's life; fire prevention being the science of making life and property safe against fire. It cites lack of equipment in many of the smaller cities and towns, and also the carelessness of individuals in causing many fires. The bulletin offers the following home made fire extinguisher recipe for homes where a fire extinguisher is not handy. The fire extinguisher for home use can be made by filling several empty pop bottles with water and common baking soda, say four ounces of soda to the gallon of water, or stronger. In case of fire a bottle hurled at the seat of combustion and broken, causes a gas to develop that is an enemy of fire.

The bulletin issues further warning as means of fire prevention. The issue is dedicated to four brave Cincinnati firemen who lost their lives at the Newton Spice Mills fire, January 17.

A MODERN STORY OF HOME AND BUSINESS

GERRY IS DISCOURAGED

Chapter 70

"Are you down hearted, yes?" Mary Ryan sang out during the afternoon. Then: "Whatever is the matter Gerry? You look as if you had lost your last friend and never expect to find another."

"I am worried, Mary." I was not given to tears, but now I had to brush the mist from my eyes. Just speaking of worry seemed to bring it nearer.

"What is it? Robert, of course." She answered her own question.

"Yes, Mary, it is Robert. He was drunk last night. Not just had a little to drink, but drunk. He swore he would never go downstairs again, went out, came back about morning—drunk. I couldn't tell anyone but you. But I—a customer demanded attention and I had no more time to talk to Mary until later I noticed, however, that she seemed to be in a brown study whenever I looked her way.

"Now tell me the rest!" she said before closing time. Business had slackened up, and we were again at liberty to talk.

"There isn't much more. He's using bad language, and I am afraid he went to that pool room. He was not feeling well this morning, so

I asked no questions."

"Poor fellow."

"I felt sorry for him too, Mary. But I feel sorry also for myself. I haven't been able to keep my mind on my own work all day." Not even to Mary could I voice all my disappointment in Bob; neither could I speak of my love for him. But she knew. She was that kind.

"Yes—it's bad business for both of you. I was reading a story the other night, Gerry. It was in a magazine. It said that men without homes, men in boarding and lodging houses, were never contented. I ain't, I mean I am not—I will keep on saying 'ain't'—going to say I think that is the matter with Robert. But it's worth thinking about, Gerry. When a man hates something—you say Bob hates the boarding house—and thinks of that thing all day, that he's going home to it, don't you think it might make him reckless?"

"But what am I to do, Mary?"

"I wouldn't advise you or anyone for the world. I know what I would do, but you see I might be wrong."

"Robert seems so little, Mary, it would be simply out of the question for me to stop working and take an apartment even a very cheap one. I never have told even you how little he earns." I felt my face flushing.

"But he couldn't pay rent and buy the necessary food. Prices are awfully high. Why, Mrs. Lane has raised her board because of the price of food."

ed her board because of the price of food."

"I know, Gerry. Life's hard, ain't it?"

"So hard I am ready sometimes to give up," I replied. "Don't be discouraged, Gerry. It isn't like you. There, I said it right for once."

"I guess I am tired, Mary. Don't think any more about it. You see I didn't get a single wink of sleep last night."

"You better get home and go to bed early. You'll be sick if you work all day and then don't sleep nights."

I took her advice and hurried home—not because I wanted to get to bed early, but because I wanted to be sure and be there when Robert came in. I recalled I had promised to go out to dinner with him. But when I got home he was already there, lying on the couch.

"You're home early," I said as I kissed him. I had determined to ignore what had happened the night before.

"Where shall we go to dinner?"

"Anywhere you want to, but what I said last night goes. I won't live on a woman. If both of us can't live on what I earn, one of us is going to, and that's final."

His tone and manner made me anxious, but I made no remark, and we started out for a nearby restaurant.

PNEUMONIA LEFT BOY WEAK AND SICKLY

Parents Were Almost Hopeless, But He Is Now Well and Strong.

"Our little boy's health was so poor we were afraid we were going to lose him. He is 10 years old, and has had weak lungs ever since he was eight months old, caused by pneumonia. We have been very careful with him and doctored him continually, but we had almost despaired of ever having a strong, well boy."

"But since giving him Milks Emulsion, all his trouble is gone, and he is as healthy as a horse."—Mrs. G. W. Smiley, 20 Maple St., Dayton, O.

For restoring appetite, health and strength in sickly children, mothers will find Milks Emulsion the thing they have always sought. Most children like to take it, because unlike many emulsions and tonics, it really tastes good.

Milks Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milks Emulsion is strongly recommended to those whose sickness has weakened, and is a powerful aid in resisting and repairing the effects of wasting diseases. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milks Emulsion under this guarantee—Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results your money will be promptly refunded. Price 60c and $1.20 per bottle. The Milks Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold by druggists everywhere. Guaranteed by Sayre & Hemphill.

NEGLECTED COUGHS ARE DANGEROUS

Try This Home Remedy.

Get three ounces of Glando Pine and add to it enough syrup to make a pint and you will have a cough medicine that you can depend upon. By furnishing your own syrup you can save about $2.00 a pint on cough medicines. Glando Pine is no trouble to prepare. You can use corn syrup, honey or sugar syrup with equally good results. Pine is used in most cough remedies in some form. You might combine all other so called Pine cough remedies and you could not hope to have a cough medicine equal to our specially refined Glando Pine. It is pure, cheap, pleasant and guaranteed to give satisfaction.

Glando Pine quickly relieves throat irritations, stops a cough and opens up the air passages. Its record for curing chronic or long standing coughs is wonderful. There is nothing better for the hoarse croupy cough which is so distressing and annoying to children.

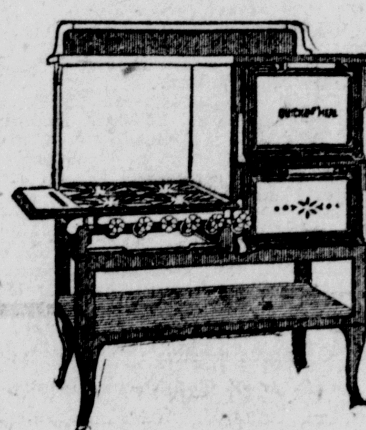

Get a bottle of Glando Pine with full directions for preparing and keep it on hand so as to be ready when the first cough or cold appears. After you have used it you will always have a good word for Glando Pine. Sold by druggists or may be obtained by sending 50 cents to the Glando-Aid Co., Fort Wayne, Indiana.

FIRE PREVENTION HELPS OUTLINED

The official bulletin of the Ohio State Fire Marshal's Department, issued by State Fire Marshal William J. Leonard, contains interesting, if appalling, news of the enormous fire losses and astonishing hazards throughout the state.

The report shows that the department now has two Greene county fires under investigation. One of them is the disastrous fire at the Yellow Springs Canning Company, which burned with a big loss, and the other is the fire at the home of Charles H. Wright in this city.

The bulletin heralds fire prevention as the big factor in the fire fight. The science of making life and property safe against fire. It cites lack of equipment in many of the smaller cities and towns, and also the carelessness of individuals in causing many fires.

The bulletin offers the following home made fire extinguisher recipe for homes where a fire extinguisher is not handy. The fire extinguisher for home use can be made by filling several empty pop bottles with water and common baking soda, say four ounces of soda to the gallon of water, or stronger. In case of fire a bottle hurled at the seat of combustion and broken, causes a gas to develop that is an enemy of fire.

The bulletin issues further warning as means of fire prevention. The issue is dedicated to four brave Cincinnati firemen who lost their lives at the Newton Spice Mills fire, January 17.

A MODERN STORY OF HOME AND BUSINESS

GERRY IS DISCOURAGED

Chapter 70

"Are you down hearted, yes?" Mary Ryan sang out during the afternoon. Then: "Whatever is the matter Gerry? You look as if you had lost your last friend and never expect to find another."

"I am worried, Mary." I was not given to tears, but now I had to brush the mist from my eyes. Just speaking of worry seemed to bring it nearer.

"What is it? Robert, of course." She answered her own question.

"Yes, Mary, it is Robert. He was drunk last night. Not just had a little to drink, but drunk. He swore he would never go downstairs again, went out, came back about morning—drunk. I couldn't tell anyone but you. But I—a customer demanded attention and I had no more time to talk to Mary until later I noticed, however, that she seemed to be in a brown study whenever I looked her way.

"Now tell me the rest!" she said before closing time. Business had slackened up, and we were again at liberty to talk.

"There isn't much more. He's using bad language, and I am afraid he went to that pool room. He was not feeling well this morning, so

I asked no questions."

"Poor fellow."

"I felt sorry for him too, Mary. But I feel sorry also for myself. I haven't been able to keep my mind on my own work all day." Not even to Mary could I voice all my disappointment in Bob; neither could I speak of my love for him. But she knew. She was that kind.

"Yes—it's bad business for both of you. I was reading a story the other night, Gerry. It was in a magazine. It said that men without homes, men in boarding and lodging houses, were never contented. I ain't, I mean I am not—I will keep on saying 'ain't'—going to say I think that is the matter with Robert. But it's worth thinking about, Gerry. When a man hates something—you say Bob hates the boarding house—and thinks of that thing all day, that he's going home to it, don't you think it might make him reckless?"

"But what am I to do, Mary?"

"I wouldn't advise you or anyone for the world. I know what I would do, but you see I might be wrong."

"Robert seems so little, Mary, it would be simply out of the question for me to stop working and take an apartment even a very cheap one. I never have told even you how little he earns." I felt my face flushing, "But he couldn't pay rent and buy the necessary food. Prices are awfully high. Why, Mrs. Lane has raised her board because of the price of food."

"I know, Gerry. Life's hard, ain't it? I mean isn't it?"

"So hard I am ready sometimes to give up," I replied. "Don't be discouraged, Gerry, it isn't like you. There, I said it right for once."

"I guess I am tired, Mary. Don't think any more about it. You see I didn't get a single wink of sleep last night."

"You better get home and go to bed early. You'll be sick if you work all day and then don't sleep nights."

"I took her advice and hurried home—not because I wanted to get to bed early, but because I wanted to be sure and be there when Robert came in. I recalled I had promised to go out to dinner with him. But when I got home he was already there, lying on the couch."

"You're home early," I said as I kissed him. I had determined to ignore what had happened the night before.

"Where shall we go to dinner?" "Anywhere you want to, but what I said last night goes. I won't live on a woman. If both of us can't live on what I earn, one of us is going to, and that's final."

His tone and manner made me anxious, but I made no remark, and we started out for a nearby restaurant.
